Description

CANNECT RESEARCH & UPDATE INTERFACE
The CANNECT RESEARCH & UPDATE INTERFACE (CANNECT-RUI) is the essential tool for our remote updater service.

Specification

The CANNECT-RUI is a two way device that enables our customers to download the latest software updates and revisions from the website. This service is compatible across most of our product range and allows our customers to update their products to the latest software for up to 1 year after purchase, free of charge. This means our customers will always have compatibility with the latest vehicles as they are released, providing that the data required is present on the vehicle CAN Bus system.

The Interface also acts as a CAN Bus reader enabling us to fix technical issues remotely. As part of the ever changing vehicle market, manufacturers are constantly updating their platforms and releasing new vehicles which can make it hard for some companies to keep track of. However, by connecting the RUI to a laptop and the vehicle, we can log in remotely over the internet and fix any compatibility issues within the hour. This means that as new vehicles are released, we can provide our RUI customers with instant compatibility, giving them the comfort of knowing that we can always provide a solution.

Approvals NOTES The RUI requires a laptop and good wifi connectivity or Mobile Connection in order to use the remote support service. Everything else is provided in the kit.
